Your Dreams Made You Blind - Step By Step-Project feat. Raya Sarantino

Lyrics written by Raya Sarantino

You're dreaming with closed eyes of the future
A future you've been longing for for so long
What you always wanted seems in reach, right there
But open your eyes, why don't you open your eyes, go on

Can't you see that your dreams are not the same as his
Can it be that his smile ain't what it seems
Set him free from your aims and your experiences
Let him find his own path, live his own life 'stead of living your dreams

You compromise, make sacrifices
Give all you have and even more
Destroy what ever antagonizes
Your goals and what you're wishing for

But can't you see what you aim for is not what he needs
Can it be that his laughter hides his screams
Set him free, let him go to where his own path leads
Let him find his own voice, live his own life 'stead of living your dreams

Your dreams made you blind believing he's just like you
So put your feet back on the ground
You do believe he wants the same things you do
So wake up from that dream of yours and look around

Can't you see that your dreams are not the same as his
Can it be that his smile ain't what it seems
Set him free from your aims and your experiences
Let him find his own path and his own dreams
